Shawn,
Wait . . . what? You're all grown up and ready for another
first day of school, this time at JMU! We are so proud of how you've faced the challenges you've had and already accomplished so much.

You've grown into a wonderful young man and we know you will succeed in whatever you choose to do.

Chesapeake Bay Governor's School Class of 2014

Chesapeake Bay Governor's School held its Senior Night graduation ceremonies at Essex High School May 20.

Eighty-eight seniors received blue and green honor cords to wear at their home school graduation ceremonies. The Class of 2014 has collectively earned 4,258 hours of community service, 2084 of which were environmental. Twenty-two seniors received the CBGS Community Service Award, a gold cord, for at least 120 hours served over their three years in the program.

Seven seniors earned an associate's from Rappahannock Community College including King William County students Markia Anderson, Hailey Bowler, Sarah Eacho, Dylan Melton and Rebecca Rielsing; Lancaster County student Ronald Cutler; and Mathews County student Virginia Jarvis.

The Class of 2014 also has earned over $3.4

million in scholarships and awards as of May 20.

Dr. Richard Shores, a member of the CBGS Joint School Board, welcomed the graduates and their families. The guest speakers were Hiba' Ann Seager, a 2013 CBGS graduate (Caroline County), a sophomore at Columbia University majoring in economics and political science; and Tahir Ahmad, a 2012 CBGS graduate (King George County), a junior at the University of Virginia majoring in foreign affairs and history.

They each advised the graduating seniors on what challenges they will face next year. Everyone enjoyed a slide show depicting highlights of the seniors' time at CBGS. Parents, students and teachers reflected on the three-year journey as well as student accomplishments.
